CERTIFICATE 28039

RESOLVED That the Design Commission, having considered a proposal for the removal of Immigration on the Lower East Side of New York (1989) by Richard Haas, Manhattan Detention Complex, 125 White Street, Baxter Street façade, Manhattan, submitted by the Department of Cultural Affairs' Percent for Art Program, the Department of Design and Construction, and the Department of Correction, represented by exhibits 4724-AV, AW, AX & BE of record in this matter, hereby rejects the same. The Commission expresses support and respect for the artist and their work and is disheartened by the lack of maintenance for all the artworks at the site. The Commission acknowledges the infeasibility of salvaging the existing artwork, which is painted directly onto the building's exterior wall, but notes the importance of preserving artworks that represent immigrants and people of color as part of the history of New York City. The Commission requests that the team (1) transform the artwork from the existing corporeal form to a digital form; (2) work with the artist to develop a proposal to share the artwork with the public either at the new jail facility or another appropriate location approved by the artist; (3) submit a plan and schedule for the work outlined above, taking into consideration the age of the artist and the expedited design-build timeline for the new facility; and (4) provide a plan for how the Department of Correction will ensure that these and other artworks installed under its jurisdiction will be maintained as installed.
